AT the Court at St. James's, the 24th of February, 1783.

P R E S E N T,

The KING's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

HIS Majesty in Council was this Day pleased to appoint Elisha Biscoe, of Dixton, Esq; to be Sheriff of the County of Monmouth.

Copenhagen, February 1. The Anniversary of the Birth-Day of His Danish Majesty was celebrated in the usual Manner the 29th of last Month, as was that of the Prince Royal on the preceding Day.

Copenhagen, February 4. The Legislature of this Country, in Consideration of the very high Price of Provisions, and other Necessaries of Life, which is daily increasing, have lately published the following Sumptuary Law.

Translation of the Sumptuary Law, published by his Danish Majesty, the 20th of January, 1783.

WHEREAS His Majesty hath observed, with much Displeasure, and hath understood, upon farther Inquiry, that so great Luxury prevails throughout his Dominions, that by the Use of Foreign Commodities, far beyond what is necessary, the Wealth of the Country is made to pass into the Hands of Strangers; and that, by the unnecessary Consumption of the Productions of this Country, a great Part of them is wasted, which ought to be sold to Foreigners: And whereas it has not escaped his Majesty's Notice, that private Persons, whether they themselves may have adopted an expensive Manner of Living, to which their Revenues are unequal, or may have found themselves obliged, from particular Circumstances, to imitate the Example of their wealthier Neighbours, either ruin or greatly impair their Fortunes: To prevent this, and to assist those who wish to be relieved from this Burden, and to restore that Economy so necessary to Individuals, and so salutary to the State, that every one may employ to the best Advantage the Means he possesses, and the Sources of Arts and of Subsistence may remain unimpaired, his Majesty has been graciously pleased to ordain and command as follows:

1. None of his Majesty's Subjects shall, from this Time forward, be permitted to use for themselves, or in their Houses, any Thing of Gold or Silver, except Snuff Boxes, Swords, Buckles, Shirt-Buttons, Watches, Etuis, Spoons, Table-Knives and Forks, Candlesticks, Sugar-Boxes, Tea-Spoons, Sugar-Tongs, and such other small Articles as are used at Table, as also the Cups, and what are commonly called Tumblers, used by the Peasants.

In this Exception are also included, Rings, Ear-Rings, and Necklaces, together with what belongs to the Dress of the Peasants, being of Massy Silver, and what may be necessary for Personal Use when at Home. Further, from the above Prohibition are excepted to the Number of Eight Silver Plates for the Table, Terrins, and Coffee Pot for those who already have them; but, on the contrary, all other Gold and Silver Plate, used either for the Table or Tea-Table, is strictly prohibited. The Silver, however, worn by the Jegers and Running-Footmen, may be still used. It shall also be permitted, to those who chuse it, to wear plain Silver Buttons on their Liveries. Moreover, all Gold and Silver Work, which may henceforth be imported, shall be confiscated, wherever the same shall be found, excepting what Travellers may have for their Personal Use, or may bring into the Country for Exportation.

2. All Silver and Gold Lace on New Cloaths, together with Tassels and such-like, shall be prohibited from the Date of the Publication hereof: But that none may suffer Loss by such Prohibition, his Majesty has been graciously pleased to permit, that all those, who are already provided with such Cloaths, may wear them until the 1st of January, 1786. From this Prohibition are excepted the Uniforms his Majesty may order and appoint to be worn, or such as are already worn, by the Servants in his Majesty's Civil Employments, or by the Army, and which no other Person shall presume to wear.

3. No Man shall order any new Cloaths to be made, embroidered with Gold or Silver, or with Silk, from the 1st of February, 1783; but may wear out those he already has, till the 1st of January, 1786. The same is enacted with Respect to all Furniture for Houses. But that such Persons, as have hitherto earned their Livelihood by practising Embroidery, may not be altogether deprived of Employment, his Majesty, till further Orders, will graciously permit the Women to wear Silk Embroidery, provided that such embroidered Stuffs be stamped in the Stamp-Hall of Copenhagen, upon producing proper Certificates that they have been made within his Majesty's Dominions. In other Towns, and in the Country, the stamping of such Stuffs will be intrusted to such Officers as His Majesty shall be graciously pleased to appoint for that Purpose. The Stamp shall consist in the Cypher of the Royal Name, with the Device Zum Gebrauch (for Use.) Moreover, it will be permitted to the Women to wear such Cloaths as they already have, till the 1st of January, 1786.

4. All Cloaths, and every Thing belonging to Dress, made of Brocade, or in Wrought Gold or Silver Stuff, as well as those beset with true or counterfeit Foreign Stones, or true or counterfeit Pearls, must not be worn after the 1st of January, 1784. From this are excepted such Presents as His Majesty, or any of the Royal Family, may at any Time have been graciously pleased to bestow. All Feathers,

Foreign

[Price Seven-Pence.]

Foreign Lace, and what is commonly called Point, are also prohibited from the 1st of January, 1784. But if any Person will order any Thing to be wrought of Stones found in the Country, he must prove that such Stones are really found in his Majesty's Dominions.

5. All Gilding, whether on Carriages, Furniture, or in Houses, is prohibited to be done from the Date hereof.

6. All Buttons on Mens Cloaths, those of his Majesty's Uniforms only excepted, shall be made either of the Cloth itself, or be made in the Country of Silk or Camels Hair. The common Buttons of the Peasants are allowed to be worn.

7. His Majesty permits the Men to wear what Silk or Velvet Cloaths they may now have, and as they now are, till the 1st of January, 1786, agreeably however to the Terms of the 4th Article foregoing. But no Surtouts of Silk or Velvet shall be worn from the above Date, and none shall be made after the Publication of this Ordinance. Yet, in Regard of the Royal Manufactures, the Men shall be permitted to wear Silk Waistcoats, Breeches, and Stockings, provided they be made in this Country, and also Silk Linings in their Coats; but Velvet shall be entirely prohibited for the future. No Silk Handkerchiefs, that cannot be washed, shall be worn from this Date. But as this Law does not comprehend Manchester, and other Cotton Stuffs, neither does it extend to Stuffs made of Silk and Linen, of Silk and Cotton, nor of Silk and Woollen, or Floret, all which may be worn as formerly, provided it can be proved, that they have been fabricated in the Country.

8. All Furs for Trimmings and Dress Cloaths are prohibited from the 1st of January, 1786: But on Account of Warmness, the Furs of the Country may be worn, and of Foreign Furs, only that Kind called Grav-Werk (Squirrel-Skin.)

9. The Servants of his Majesty's Household, as well as all others, shall not wear any Thing of Silk, except Hair-Bags, Hair-Ribbands, and Stocks, also Stockings, from the 1st of January, 1786. And the Maid Servants shall not wear, after the same Period, any Thing of Silk, excepting a Mantle, and a Black Silk Gown.

10. After the same, the Women shall wear no other Trimmings on their Gowns, but those that are made of the same Stuff with the Gown; or if they be made of any other, they shall not exceed Sixteen Rix Dollars in Value. All Womens Cloaths made after the 1st of February, 1783; shall be conformable to the above. All Italian and other Artificial Flowers, unless they can be proved to have been made in this Country, are strictly prohibited from the Date hereof.

11. Servant Maids shall not wear any Head-dress that shall exceed $1\frac{1}{4}$ Rix Dollar in Value, except on their Marriage Day. Neither shall they wear any Ear-Rings.

12. Every Lackey, who shall have his Hair dressed by a Hair Dresser, shall be punished by a Fine of Four Rix Dollars.

13. All Silk Hangings for Rooms, and Silk Window Curtains, are prohibited to be put up after the present Date.

14. His Majesty reiterates his former Prohibition respecting the Importation of the following Articles into his Dominions.

All Furniture of whatever Kind, under which are comprehended all Sorts of Carpets.

All Sorts of Carriages, as also Harness for Horses.

All finished Clocks and Watches.

All Foreign Glass, Porcelaine, Fayence, from which Looking-Glasses are excepted for the present. The East-India and Canal Companies, however, preserve the Rights of their Charter. Under this Prohibition is not included what Travellers may have for their own Use, or what may be brought into the Country for Exportation.

15. His Majesty, as well to restrain Luxury, as to lessen the Expences of his Subjects, further ordains and commands;

That at Entertainments no Person shall give more than Eight Dishes at Dinner, small and great included, with Sallad, and Four Kinds of Desert at most, besides what Fruit the Country produces, so that all Foreign Confections, whether wet or dry, are altogether excluded.

At Supper, no Subject shall present more than Six Dishes, small and great, with Sallad, and Two Kinds of Desert, besides the Fruit which the Country produces.

At Entertainments, as well at Table as otherwise, shall no Wines be given, but what are commonly called French White Wine and French Red Wine, (Claret,) with Malaga and Madeira; whereas all fine Wines and Liquors, as well as old French Wine and Foreign Beer, should be prohibited. Punch may be given to such as desire it.

At Marriages, and such other extraordinary Occasions, Two Dishes and Two Kinds of Desert may be given, besides what are allowed at ordinary Entertainments.

Lastly, From the 1st of October, 1783, shall no Foreign Provisions, or Foreign prepared Viſuals, be given at Entertainments, or be publickly sold, and for that Purpose be advertised in the News-Papers, provided that the principal Ingredients, of which they are composed, are to be found within his Majesty's Dominions. But as his Majesty does not comprehend in this Article such Foreign Ingredients as are necessary for preparing Viſuals, he will specify more particularly, by an Edict to be prepared by the General Economical and Commercial College, what of this Kind is to be considered as contraband. Such Wines only, as are specified in the foregoing Article, shall be sold in Inns or Cellars, and be allowed to be advertised in the News-Papers for that Purpose. The same is to be observed with Regard to all Kinds of Foreign Beer and Liquors, which must neither be sold, nor advertised for that Purpose, after the 1st of October, 1783.

Moreover his Majesty wills, that his loving and faithful Subjects shall use what they already have to the above-mentioned Date, and also that they shall restrict themselves in respect to Eating and Drinking, as well as to the other Articles above mentioned, within still narrower Bounds than those prescribed by the above Ordinance.

That this Law may be held in constant Remembrance, the same shall be read from all the Pulpits throughout His Majesty's Dominions, every First Sunday after the New Year, and every First Sunday of the Month of July.

And as his Majesty is persuaded that his loving and dutiful Subjects, sensible of their own Interest, will of themselves be disposed to observe this economical Regulation, he will not therefore, as yet, enforce their Compliance therewith, by the Intervention of the Police, or by any other coercive Measure.
